“ I fell in love with you when I was 6, and those feelings only multiplied over the next 65+ years. I could share memories or stories forever, but I am still a little too emotional for that. Just like I told you on your birthday, “I loved you yesterday, I love you today and I will love you tomorrow”. Thanks for the memories. We shared it all. The good, the bad and the ugly. I won’t cry that you are gone, I will smile because you were here. I am a better person for having known you. God-speed my friend, Deb
