“ Jim and I were visiting mom and Joe at Topaz, remember how steep one side of that circular driveway was? It was winter and Jim had taken the truck somewhere and when he got back he started down that steep driveway and that big truck ran up onto a pole!! The entire horizon was a blind spot! It dented the chrome a little bit and Jim was so worried, But Joe came out and saw that and he just laughed and laughed. Then they spent the rest of the afternoon figuring out how to get the truck of the pole and not get run over!

I love Joe and I miss you. Love, susan
